

Cool Mann™ & Cool Mann, Jr.™

💧 Cool Mann™ & Cool Mann, Jr.™

The Cool Mann™ and Cool Mann Jr.™, both U.S. patent pending, are radiant barrier wraps made to provide additional protection from heat and/or sun during operation of the sampler or during sample transport. The Cool Mann™ is puncture and tear resistant, consisting of a plastic core containing an insulating layer of air with an outer layer of 99% aluminum offering 97% reflectivity.

The Cool Mann™ is designed for situations where some cooling is needed, but a refrigerator is not available. The Cool Mann™ can extend the useful life of ice more than eight hours.

This wrap comes in two standard sizes: Cool Mann™ and Cool Mann, Jr.™. The Cool Mann™ is designed for Manning portable samplers, such as PST and VST. Upon request, Manning can also customize a Cool Mann™ to fit any portable sampler, including those of other manufacturers. Cool Mann, Jr.™ fits the Bucket Mann™, U.S. patent pending, (or any five-gallon bucket) for additional protection during sample transport.

The wrap is quick and easy to install and remove, and does not interfere with the everyday operation of the sampler. Cool Mann™ is lightweight, non-toxic, and does not promote the growth of fungi or bacteria. The Cool Mann™ is maintenance free and impervious to changes in humidity or temperature.

Cool Mann, Jr.™ fits the Bucket Mann™ and any standard five-gallon bucket to help maintain sample temperature during transport. This can help keep sample temperature stable for a longer period of time.
